

Dr. Younus I. Al-Saady

Senior chief geologist

Dr. Younus Ibrahim Ismael Al-Saady is currently the senior chief geologist and the head of information at the Iraq Geological Survey. He obtained his PhD in the field of environmental geochemistry at the University of Baghdad, Iraq in 2017. He earned his master's degree in geology in 2008 in the field of geochemistry at the University of Baghdad, Iraq. His areas of interest are environmental geochemistry, remote sensing and GIS, regional geology, and geomorphology. He has contributed to several projects of the Iraq Geological Survey, especially in environmental studies, land use and land cover, and geomorphological mapping. He participated in (18) unpublished geological reports in the Iraq Geological Survey library and ten (15) published papers. He attended many national conferences, workshops, and symposiums.