

Dr. Imad Kadhim Abdulzahra

Dr. Imad Kadhim Abdulzahra received his B.Sc. and M.Sc. degrees in geology from Baghdad University, Baghdad, Iraq, in 1996 and 2009, respectively. In 2017, he obtained his Ph.D. in geology / Mineralogy and Petrology within the twinning program between Baghdad University and Nagoya University, Japan. He joined the Iraq Geological Survey in 2001, Iraq and now he is the Deputy Director General. He has over 25 documented reports and other publications. His major fields are Igneous and Metamorphic Petrology, geological mapping, field geology, geochronology, Sr-Nd isotopes, and lithology, He supervised several M.Sc. students in different universities.