

Prof. Dr. Fayez Ahmad

Prof. Dr. Fayez Ahmad received his B.Sc. and M.Sc. degrees from the Yarmouk University, Irbid, Jordan in 1990 and 1992, respectively. He got his Ph.D. degree from Julius-Maximilians-Universität Würzburg, Germany in the subject of Paleoecology, Biostratigraphy, and Paleontology in 1998. Now he is a Professor at The Hashemite University, Zarqa, Jordan. His research interests are in the fields of Biostratigraphy, Sequence stratigraphy, and paleoecology. He has worked at The Hashemite University since 1999. Prof. Ahmad served in academic administrative posts (Dean and Head of Department). Ahmad has published more than 70 research articles in international journals on the Mesozoic and Cenozoic stratigraphy of the region, especially in Jordan, Egypt, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, and Tunisia. The i10-index of Ahmad is 26 and the h-index is 17. Currently, and since 2013, he is a voting member of the International Subcommittee on Jurassic Stratigraphy. Prof. Ahmad served as Chief Editor of the Jordan Journal of Earth and Environmental Sciences (2018-2021).